

April 2016

Faculty and Staff Accomplishments at Virginia Wesleya

Jill Sturts presented a session titled "Engaging Students in Critical inking: Preparing Students for the 21st Century Workplace" at the Academy of Leisure Sciences Teaching Institute and was a panelist for a session on "Growing up Academic: Getting Started on the Tenure Track." With VWC adjunct Dennis Boundsand Chris Lindvall, Terry Lindvall's was released by Routledge Press.

His articles

( anhouser, 1912):

was included in editor David Shepherd's

, 1 7-1 27 and

(with Chris Lindvall) in editor Rhonda Burnette-Bletsch's

Volume II (de Gruyter, Spring 2016), 253-266.

Linda Fergusonpresented

, at the Popular Culture/ American Culture Association's Annual Meeting.

Patty Clarkled a table discussion in the "Feeling the Digital Scholarship Love" session at e Collective conference. During this small group breakout session, Patty's group focused on librarians supporting digital projects.

Jenny Erdmanrand Patty Clarkco-authored an article published in & titled "Librarians in the huddle: Supporting athlete success on and o the eld."

Susan Wansinlpublished the article "Mother as Failed Communist Muttirepublik" in Wolfgang Becker's "Good Bye Lenin!" in the book

Stephen Leistpresented a poster session on "Library Instruction and the ILL Work ow" describing research into instruction strategies and their impact on interlibrary loan requests at the 2016 ILLiad International Conference.

Joyce Eastepresented

at this year's American Chemical Society meeting, highlighting the improvement of student learning and ability to interpret and develop visual representations and models in biochemistry with the development of teaching materials that incorporate dynamic models.

Have recent news to share?

Please send tdayone@vwc.edu (include any relevant photos, images or links)